At a glance

Roll the board, roll its notices, then resolve each notice by type. Legitimate notices produce straightforward work; illegitimate notices hide a catch; illegal notices push the party toward criminal choices.

Using the Generator

This supplement turns a town noticeboard into a session-ready engine for errands, mysteries, monster hunts, social obligations, criminal work, and campaign complications. It is designed for manual rolling with physical dice at the table.

Dice needed

d4, d6, d8, d10, d12, d20, and d100. A d100 result can be rolled with two d10s as percentile dice; in these tables, 00 means 100.

The Core Loop

Step	Action
1	Roll the noticeboard's quality and reputation.
2	Roll the board's size to determine how many notices are posted.
3	For each notice, roll the contract type using the quality table.
4	Resolve each notice in the appropriate section: legitimate, illegitimate, or illegal.
5	Optionally calculate rewards, including employer modifiers and weird payments.

Running the table

A noticeboard is not just a menu. Use its quality to suggest who controls public work in the settlement, what people fear, and how much the characters can trust what is posted.

Quality	Illegal	Illegitimate	Legitimate
Underground	01-70	71-95	96-00
Decrepit	01-35	36-70	71-00
Standard	01-15	16-55	56-00
Good	01-10	11-45	46-00
Pristine	01-05	06-15	16-00

What the types mean

Legitimate contracts are honest work. Illegitimate contracts pretend to be honest but conceal a catch. Illegal contracts openly or secretly require criminal action.

Step 1 - Roll Quality

Roll 1d10 to find the noticeboard's quality and reputation.

d10	Quality	Reputation
1-2	Underground	Criminal or black-market board
3-4	Decrepit	Neglected, unreliable
5-6	Standard	Average town board
7-8	Good	Well-maintained, reputable
9-10	Pristine	Official, well-funded

Step 2 - Roll Size

Roll 1d10 to find how many notices are posted.

d10	Board Size	Notice Count
1-2	Tiny	Roll 1d4 notices
3-4	Small	Roll 2d4 notices
5-6	Average	Roll 3d4-1 notices (minimum 2)
7-8	Large	Roll 4d4 notices
9-10	Enormous	Roll 5d4-1 notices (minimum 4)

Step 3 - Contract Type per Notice

For each posted notice, roll d100 on the row that matches the board's quality.

Step 5 - Illegitimate Contracts

Use this section when the posted work looks plausible but the truth is slanted, hidden, or deliberately misleading.

5a. Roll Seed (d100)

d100	Seed	Use
01-75	Illegitimate False Premise	Uses a contract table + real purpose
76-00	Illegitimate Betrayal	Uses a contract table + betrayal

Choose the Contract Base

For the contract table, roll d3. You can also roll d6 and halve the result, rounding up.

d3	Base	Next Roll
1	Dangerous Contract	Roll on the Dangerous Contract table (4e)
2	Social Contract	Roll on the Social Contract table (4g)
3	Investigation Contract	Roll on the Investigation table (4h)

False work, real consequences

Illegitimate notices work best when the job still matters. The party may complete the task and only later discover why someone wanted it done.

5b. Real Purpose Table (d12)

Used for the False Premise seed.

d12	Real Purpose
1-3	completing the contract implicates the party in a larger problem
4-6	completing the job distracts from the real crime
7-8	the job is to test the party for future work
9-10	a rival party is already involved
11	performing the job leads to evidence being stolen or destroyed
12	performing the job starts a feud between two groups

5c. Betrayal Table (d12)

Used for the Betrayal seed.

d12	Betrayal
1-2	the employer will refuse to pay
3-4	the employer vanishes during the job
5-6	the city watch or enemies have already been tipped off
7-8	completing the contract forces the party into a larger problem
9	the party is locked in, trapped, or abandoned during the job
10	the job is an ambush
11	the payment is fake, stolen, or cursed (roll payment condition)
12	the party is paid, but accepting payment implicates them

Payment Condition

When a betrayal says the payment is conditional, roll d6: 1-3 fake; 4-5 stolen; 6 cursed.

Optional: Clues to the Lie

d6	Clue
1	The notice avoids naming the employer or names someone who cannot be easily found.
2	The wording is too precise about where the party must stand, wait, or hand over an object.
3	Locals know the task, but their version of events does not match the notice.
4	The offered payment is oddly high, oddly low, or paid through an intermediary.
5	The job has a strange deadline that benefits someone other than the listed employer.
6	A rival group is already watching the board, the employer, or the party.

Step 6 - Illegal Contracts

Use this section when the work itself is criminal, or when the employer expects the party to solve a problem outside the law.

6a. Roll Seed (d100)

d100	Seed	Use
01-25	Illegal Shady	Existing contract + shady condition + criminal employer
26-65	Illegal Simple Criminal	Criminal contract + criminal employer
66-00	Illegal Complicated	Criminal contract + shady condition + criminal employer

Shady Seed: Choose the Contract Base

For the Shady seed, roll d2 or flip a coin.

d2	Base	Next Roll
1	Contract table	Roll on the standard Contract table (4b)
2	Dangerous Contract table	Roll on the Dangerous Contract table (4e)

6b. Criminal Contract Table (d20)

d100	Employer	Reward
01-11	fixer	+5% reward
12-22	anonymous individual	no modifier
23-31	desperate local	-10% reward
32-40	indebted worker	-10% reward

95-98	noble	+15% reward
99-00	cult member	no modifier

6d. Shady Condition Table (d20)

Only used for Shady and Complicated seeds.

d20	Condition
1-6	complete the job in X days
7-11	in the cover of night
12-15	make it look like an accident
16-18	ensure there are no witnesses
19	you must wear a disguise
20	do not say a word on the job

Table safety note
Illegal hooks can create memorable pressure, but the DM should keep player comfort and campaign tone in mind. A notice can imply danger without forcing the table into content they do not want.

Optional: Signs of a Criminal Posting

d6	Sign
1	The posting is tucked beneath another notice or marked only with a symbol.
2	The contact phrase is written like ordinary gossip unless read aloud.
3	The meeting place changes after the party accepts the work.
4	The reward is promised in sealed coin, goods, favours, or information.
5	The notice forbids questions, witnesses, daylight, or official attention.
6	Someone nearby is waiting to see who removes the notice from the board.

Reward Calculation

Reward calculation is optional. Each contract may be assigned a base GP reward by the DM or by another reward table. Employer and complication entries carry reward modifiers as percentages.

Final GP = base reward × (1 + sum of all modifiers / 100) + random drift of +/-15%

Round down, and never reduce the reward below 1 GP. If a weird payment is added, append it to the GP reward. For example: 150 GP + a favour from a person of power.

Reward tuning

Use reward modifiers to show social pressure. A desperate local may pay less but provide sympathetic context, while a noble or anonymous patron may pay well enough to make the party suspicious.

Worked Example: From Roll to Notice

Stage	Roll	Result
Board Quality	d10 = 7	Good board: well-maintained and reputable.
Board Size	d10 = 5	Average board: roll 3d4-1 notices, minimum 2.
Contract Type	d100 = 64	On a Good board, this notice is Legitimate.
Legitimate Seed	d100 = 32	Legitimate Complicated: contract + employer + complication.
Contract	d100 = 50	Deliver a sealed letter.
Employer	d100 = 58	Guild Representative: +10% reward.
Complication	d10 = 1	The job must be completed in a limited timeframe.
Reward	Base 100 GP	100 × 1.10, then +8% drift = 118 GP, rounded down.

Example Notice

Guild courier needed before sunset: deliver a sealed letter to the west gate chapterhouse. Payment: 118 GP on completion. Speak to the guild representative by the old fountain.
